What Is Going On Tonight.
Willimantic Lodge, No. 1211, B. P. O. E. meets.
Northern Star Lodge, No. 44, A. F. and A. M., stated communication at Masonic Hall.

A "Gentleman's Night" was held by the Willimantic Woman's Club Tuesday evening at the First Congregational Church house, each member bringing a friend and each member and friend bringing her husband or some male friend. About 500 hundred attended the social which was one of the biggest affairs of the season.

The entertainment began at 8 o'clock with instrumental music by Hickey's orchestra. Following this a comedy of one act was presented by nine members of the Willimantic State Normal and Training school. The comedy was entitled "The Worst Man Under the Direction of Professor F. W. Stachner of the Normal school faculty was well done. Ice cream, cake, cup cakes and coffee were served during intermission and the remainder of the evening was spent in social gatherings and dancing.

The entertainment was in charge of Mrs. Edward Tryon, and the following ladies as assistants: Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. F. E. Wilcox, Mrs. A. W. Gates and Mrs. George Spencer.

The club will have their annual field day on Saturday, June 5th, after which there will be no more meetings until the fall of the year.

A session of the superior court of Windham county was held Tuesday in this city with Judge John E. Keeler on the bench. The case of the Rhode Island Roofing company vs. J. M. Shepard was set for trial on Tuesday. The case of Charlie Marcello, charged with theft of chickens on October 29, 1917, was to come up at this session of the court. Mrs. Marcello failed to appear and upon the recommendation of State's Attorney Charles E. Sears the bond of $200 was called by Judge Keeler. This case had been hanging fire for more than two years but each time had been postponed for various reasons. Antonio Gioia was bondsman for Mrs. Marcello. He is of New York where Mrs. Marcello lives at the present time.

The wife of George C. Jacobson vs. Edward Labonte for alleged breach of contract took up the attention of the court during the remainder of the day. Both men were former residents of Chaplin, the former now living in Abington and the latter in Willington. According to the plaintiff, Labonte entered into a verbal agreement with her husband to take her to Chaplin and Abington to Jacobson's sawmill. The job was taken at the rate of $3 per thousand feet. Jacobson claimed that Labonte was to furnish the teams and help for the job which he failed to do, also that he was obliged to finish the hauling himself after Labonte broke his contract. He seeks damages of $1000.

During the morning session the following witnesses appeared for the plaintiff: George E. Jacobson, Samuel Carpenter, William H. Sprague and Rose A. Moran. Following recess at noon, additional witnesses, Herman A. Darling, Welsh Palmer, Willis J. Copeland, Mrs. Mary J. Jacobson and George E. Moran were also called to the stand for the plaintiff. Mrs. Jacobson was called upon to read the details of work done by the defendant before he gave up work on May 11, 1917.

Mr. Moran testified that he was a witness of the meeting of Jacobson and Labonte at the house by the road, where he stated Labonte told Mr. Jacobson he was through.

Mr. Jacobson was then called to the stand by the attorney for the defense and cross examined as to his testimony at the lower court in Putnam. The defense then questioned him as to whether or not he had mentioned any witness of this meeting of Labonte and himself at the court session at Putnam. Mr. Jacobson could not recall doing anything of this kind.

At 4:45 the first witness for the defense was called. Edward Labonte, the defendant, took the stand and gave his side of the case. He stated that Jacobson had engaged him to work for him by the day paying him $5 per day for his work and the use of his team. After several days he agreed to haul logs for $2.50 per thousand feet. Jacobson, he said, was to furnish him men if he could not get any himself. Jacobson was also to furnish teams if necessary. He stopped working for Jacobson he said on May 11, 1917, after Jacobson had taken him away from him and had told him he was through with him and would finish the cutting himself. Jacobson was not satisfied with his work, he said. At the time of the meeting on the road he had only his team and some chain and was not carrying away his tools. He did this the week following. The attorney for the defense desired the notes of the testimony at Putnam and court was adjourned until today (Wednesday) when the notes will be on hand and other witnesses presented for the defense. The jury and witnesses were told to appear at this session of the court. The jury consists of the following: L. Edwin Backus, Windham; George B. Weaver, Brooklyn; John W. Dawley, and Ernest W. Wilson, Plainfield; George Cary and Arland Chapman, Scotland; John A. Frink, Stealing; Everett S. Fletcher and John A. Johnson, Thompson; L. J. Leavitt and William Smith, Woodstock; and J. H. Hyde, Hampton.

A. E. Weldon of Windham, Hiram W. Hawes, Canterbury, William K. Pike, Killington, and Benjamin Stevens of Eastford were excused by the court. George Potvin, Putnam, and Earl F. Gay, Killington, by the plaintiff. James Lewis, Chaplin, Frank Chism, Pomfret, and Ralph Colvin, Hampton by the defendant. Edward A. Wilber of Ashford by both plaintiff and defendant and Edwin L. Wood of Putnam was drawn and excused.

About 2,500 textile workers of this town will receive increased pay beginning May 31st or June 1st. The advance in wages corresponds with the increase granted in other textile cities, the grant being a 15 per cent. increase. Notices were posted at the various mills in the city Tuesday, one at the American Thread company reading:

"Mill workers' wages will be advanced 15 per cent. for a period of six months beginning Tuesday, June 1st, 1920."

This announcement gives the increase to about 2,500 employees of the company. This raise is one of many granted at the mill, the accumulated percentage of advances since 1915 amounting to about 129 per cent.

At the Quindlen-Windham Manufacturing company's plant the following notice was posted:

"There will be an increase in the pay of employees of this mill beginning Monday, May 31st."

The amount of the raise was not stated but it was said that it would be equal to that granted in other mills manufacturing a similar line of goods. Three hundred and sixty employees are affected by this grant.

Announcement was also made by the Windham Mill company that the wages of their employees would be increased 15 per cent. beginning Monday, May 31st.

The 31st annual reunion of the Twenty-first Connecticut Volunteer Veterans' association was held Tuesday at Grand Army of the Republic headquarters in the town building. Twenty-six members of the Twenty-first out of the 89 survivors responded to the roll call and six ladies members of the G. A. R. were present when the session opened. Other attending were relatives and friends of the Grand Army men. Each member displayed a badge on which was a fine likeness of Lieut. Arthur Ormsted of East Hartford, who died during the year just closed.

Major W. S. Hubbell of Brooklyn, N. Y., 50 years ago was elected president of the organization for life. He presided at the meetings. Prayer was offered by Comrade B. D. Remington of Colchester. The report of the 50th annual reunion was read by Secretary Theodore D. Pond of Brooklyn, Conn. Treasurer Captain Charles Panton of Willimantic read the report of the year, which showed a balance of $5.14. It was voted to take up a collection during the reunion to add to the treasury.

Secretary Pond stated that invitations had been sent to all known survivors but many had failed to respond. He handed some bouquet of carnations on the secretary's table, he stated, was the gift of Misses Anna and Margaret Flaherty, in memory of their father, Dennis Flaherty, who was a member of the Twenty-first regiment.

President Hubbell appointed a nominating committee of three to bring in names of regimental officers, executive committee and chairman of company committees. While the nominating committee was out, the necrology for the year was read by Secretary Pond, who announced the death of eight comrades: Company A, John H. Fuller, May 2, 1919; Company B, Thomas L. Bailey, Nov. 15, 1919; Company D, John D. Gaylord, Jan. 29, 1920; Company G, Jared A. Gallup, Com. C. Frank G. Colby, Nov. 12, 1919; and Charles W. James, Feb. 4, 1920; Company F, J. S. The roll call showed 26 present—six responding from Company H, five from Company K, seven from Company A, two from Company C, one each from Company B, Company D, Company G, Company H, Company I, and Company K—a total of 99.

Letters of regret were read by Secretary Pond from General William A. Allen of Norwich, Lieutenant Aaron S. Dutton and J. N. Patterson of Concord, N. H., and others. Following the necrology, a vote of thanks was extended local members of the association for the excellent manner in which visiting comrades were entertained, also to the Woman's Relief corps for the excellent food provided.

Breed Theatre.
When "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" is shown at the Breed theatre, today and Thursday the millions of readers of John Fox, Jr.'s books will have a chance to see Jack Pickford in the role of one of the best liked boy characters in American fiction. Chad, the hero of the photoplay version of Mr. Fox's novel, is a perfect role for Jack Pickford. The book itself sold more than 1,000,000 copies and is well known to two generations of Americans. The author's interest in the life of the mountaineers of Eastern Kentucky, led him to picture it in several novels, as "The Kentuckian," "Night of the Hawk," "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," and "The Heart of the Hills." Not only is the story of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" a true account of the customs of the mountaineers, but also a beautiful representation of some incidents of the Civil War. A beautiful love story involving a mountain girl's sacrifice of her lover adds a touch of pathos to a beautiful photoplay. For the second feature the Breed will present the most wonderful and most little favorite of the screen, Miss Shirley Mason, in a picture with the alluring title "Her Elephant Man." This is from the novel by Pearl Dole Bell and is a wonderful love story of the circus with all the dish, charm and thrill of the spanned arena. A Day photograph will complete the bill for today and Thursday.
